

SECTION TWELVE: Reference Charts

©Copyright 2001-2013 Mike Tremblay / Last Updated: 3/2/2013

GPS Coordinates

GPS coordinates are based on marks using a Garmin "E-Trex" GPS unit. This has a plus or minus accuracy tolerance in itself, plus when recording, I am usually walking or canoeing (i.e. working), so I rarely wait for it to settle out or wait for a good signal. With most GPS readings, I have taken multiple readings and found them to be very close if not right on. I have also cross referenced the marks using MyTopo Terrain Navigator™ and Google Earth™ Maps.

There are exported files available in the "12_Reference Charts directory". There are three types of files available: ".GPX", ".KML" and ".MXF". If you look at these, they should be supported by your GPS device in some manner.
